

Architectural

Objective:

To move to downtown Seattle for proximity to their clients while creating a new working environment. The previous space was outdated and did not reflect their innovative and efficient approach. The new headquarters achieved the desired result of an open environment that provided better visibility and collaboration among staff. The historic Pike Place Market building showcases a new culture for their visitors.

Specifics:

26 workstations with casual meeting space intermixed. Conference and teaming areas against the windows are ideal for sharing and viewing projects. Storage is intermixed for proximity and to create settings for impromptu meetings.

Solution:

Workstations: Herman Miller Canvas Dock workstations with Herman Miller Motia Height Adjustable tables, Sit on It Task chairs.

Common areas: Herman Miller Eames Tables and Chairs, Herman Miller TU storage and filing, Herman Miller ergonomic tools.
